I have been lecturing at Massey University College of Education since 1995. I have a strong background in the teaching of second language teaching, visual arts, performing arts, Māori Language, and Kura Kaupapa Māori teaching programmes at undergraduate and post graduate level. I am currently pursuing my doctorate in Māori studies at the Turitea campus titled 'Ko te reo Te Kakahu Whakataratara o Ngāi Tūhoe' (The different domains of Tūhoe language epistemologies). My research interests are tribal history, customary concepts, Māori performing arts, oral and written composition in Māori.

Committees: Kaupapa Māori Committee and the Māori Language Committee Massey College of Education.
