HEXAGONS ARE THE BESTAGONS:

Participate in NZARE's rich research ecology at Conference

This year, at Conference you are invited to participate in building a research ecology, designed to map the richness and complexity of research undertaken by NZARE members. Come prepared to contribute a brief summary of your current research project(s) and make connections with colleagues. This growing and evolving ecology will be hosted in a shared space and is open to all participants. For a deeper dive and further connection, attend the Research Ecology workshop being hosted by the Teaching and Teacher Education SIG.

Look out for the poster boards near the registration desk and pick up your hexagon.

Registrations and morning tea in Central Lecture Block Foyer witll follow the mihi whakatau in the and awards in C1.

Please tell us your first name when registering to help us find your name tag. If you arrive early, you can register between 7.45 and 8.15am.

Call for books for our SPOTLIGHT ON PUBLICATIONS

One of our usual conference activities is a spotlight on publications. In this session we provide an opportunity for NZARE members to display their latest books. We usually only include books published since the previous conference.

To be included in this session, we usually expect authors to make available copies of their books for the attending conference participants to look at. In this age of fewer books being published, if your book is only available as an e-version, you may instead provide a flyer with details for conference participants to peruse.

To be included in this session or to nominate a book authored or co-authored by an NZARE member, email: nzare.eo@gmail.com
